DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-31 are pending in the instant application.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The information disclosure statements (IDS) submitted on January 26, 2006 and March 18, 2004 are in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR § 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Priority

3. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. § 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

4. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1 and 23-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Page ("MAC-DSD Multi-channel Audio Connection for DSD", version 1.1, November 1, 2002 – 2004 IDS Paper Ref. "AR").

Regarding claim 1, Page discloses, according to figures 2, 3, and 5, a data communications system for communicating a data signal ("DSD") formed of successive data elements, said system comprising a transmission node (fig. 2); a reception node (fig. 3); and a link ("Category 5 cable") providing a data connection from said transmission node to said reception node; said transmission node comprising: (i) a clocking-signal transmitter (fig. 2, "Low-pass filter", "Differential line driver", and "Clock") for transmitting a synchronization clocking signal to said reception node via said link, said synchronization clocking signal having synchronizing features occurring at a frequency lower (i.e. 64fs) than a data element rate (i.e. 576fs; fig. 5); and (ii) an assembler (figs. 3 or 5, "PHY") for assembling elements of said data signal into data frames, each data frame having a plurality of successive data elements of said data signal, for transmission to said reception node via said link, said assembler being responsive to said synchronization clocking signal (fig. 5, ref. "PLL") so as to set a synchronization flag associated with a data element having a first predetermined temporal relationship with a synchronizing feature of said synchronization clocking signal (pg. 14, "Frame Types" and "Frame Flags"; pg. 18); and said reception node (fig. 3,) comprising: (i) a detector (fig. 3, "Comparator") for detecting a synchronizing feature of said synchronization clocking signal received from said transmission node; (ii) a disassembler (fig. 3, "PHY") for disassembling received data frames to regenerate said data signal, said disassembler being operable to detect a data element associated with a set synchronization flag (pg. 18); (iii) an output unit (fig. 3, "MAC-DSD") for outputting a data element associated with a set synchronization flag at a second predetermined temporal relationship with respect to said synchronizing feature of said received synchronization clocking signal (pg. 12); said first and second predetermined temporal relationships being arranged so that a predetermined system latency exists between input of a data element to said transmission node and subsequent output of that data element by said reception node (pg. 13).

Regarding claims 23-27, Page discloses the limitations of the claim as applied to claim 1 above.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 2-22 and 28-31 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following prior art references not relied upon above are cited to further show the state of the art with respect to audio data communication.
